LIBERALS GAIN FOUR SEATS IN SASKATCHEWAN

The final returns of voting are not yet complete, but the results are complete enough to indicate the result in every constituency the standing of the parties as:

Liberals	51
Conservatives	3
Progressives	5
Independents	2
Deferred	2
Total	63

In one or two cases returns from constituencies were so close that the official tabulation, to be announced last night might change the result. In a number of constituencies complete reports were not available but the candidate listed as elected had what was considered a sure majority.

ONTARIO FARMERS BENEFIT

Ontario farmers benefit to the amount of about $42,000 annually through the reduction made by the provincial government of the interest rate on farm loans from a six per cent to five and a half per cent rate. Farm loans affected total $8,500,000.

Captain Blood is coming to Chauvin, Monday June 22nd; to Edgerton the following day.

HOUSE MAY PROROGUE BY DOMINION DAY

Prorogation of parliament before Dominion Day, July 1st, was forecast in the Senate today. The government leader, Hon. Raoul Dandurand, announced that the government expected that the business of parliament would be finished "before Dominion Day" in answer to a question.

A. HEINS SEEDS QUARTER WITH SWEET CLOVER

Mr. A. Heins, one of the progressive farmers of the Artland district is seeding an entire quarter (his homestead) down with sweet clover. This piece of land is somewhat light and is subject to much wind: the formation of the surrounding country seeming to induce the highest force of the wind in the area in which this quarter is located. Mr. Heins' big experiment will be watched with great interest by the entire neighbourhood.

ALBERTA'S REPRESENTATIVE

Alberta's representative at the Norse-American centennial at Minneapolis which opened this week will be Dr. F. A. Nordbye, of Camrose, Alberta, Norwegian Vice-Consul, who is in attendance at the centennial. A special message of greeting from the people of Alberta was sent to the centennial by Hon. Geo. Hoadley, Acting Premier, on behalf of the Government.

ALBERTA SUNFLOWER CROP

One of Alberta's newest crops, sunflowers for silage, amounted to 160,000 tons last year, while fodder corn, comparatively new, amounted to 269,888 tons. The development of these field products is largely due to the expansion of the dairy industry. Alberta dairy production last year was valued at close to $23,000,000 and is rapidly increasing.

BIG FILM COMPANY COMING

Hoot Gibson and his company of film actors, are coming to Alberta from Hollywood for the purpose of making a big western motion picture based on the Calgary Jubilee Stampede, to be held in July. Most of the scenes will be made in Southern Alberta and around the stampede.

HONEY IN MANITOBA

The 1800 beekeepers in the province of Manitoba, with 22,113 colonies, produced 1,302,000 lbs of honey, valued at $195,999 in 1924, according to returns made by the provincial government.

MR. GEORGE KESSLER DIES SUDDENLY AT HIS HOME

The death occurred at his home Monday May 18th, of Mr. George Kessler, a widely known and respected resident of the Heath and Edgerton district from lung trouble aggravated by heart disease.

The late Mr. Kessler, who was born at Mannheim, Bavaria, fifty-one years ago, came to the United States at an early age and settled at Mansfield, Ohio, where he plied his trade as a boiler-maker at the works of Altman-Taylor Machinery Co. At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war he enlisted as a private in the Ohio Volunteer Infantry and served in Cuba under the late Major-general Shafter. He received his discharge at Fort Warren, Boston, at the close of hostilities with the rank of sergeant. After a short period of service with the regular army he returned to Ohio, and then came to Winnipeg, where he joined the fire brigade. He came to his late farm, about nine miles north of Heath, from Portage La Prairie a number of years ago. He had acted as secretary of the Grange-dale S.D., which closed on Wednesday, the date of the funeral out of respect to his memory.

After a short service at the home, Wednesday, the cortege proceeded to Wainwright cemetery where interment was made, the large crowd in attendance at both places testifying to the esteem in which the deceased was held. Messrs Monaghan, Cary and Lowe of Heath; and Richard, George and Hugh Thomas of Edgerton, acted as pall bearers.

The late Mr. Kessler will long be remembered for his genial disposition and kindly manner, and the vacant place left in the community by his death will be hard to fill. The sympathy of the Edgerton and Heath districts go out to Mrs. Kessler and daughter Althea in their bereavement.

Among those in attendance at the funeral was noted Constable John Garland, R.C.M.P., formerly of Wainwright, now of Edmonton.

WATCH FOR OUTWORMS AND GRASSHOPPERS

Reports have been received of damage by outworms from some districts. A rather serious outbreak of grasshoppers is also reported from the North Country. The Department now has material and supervisors in the field with the object of checking this outbreak. Slight outbreaks are also reported from the old grasshopper areas, but it is anticipated that the damage will be very small.

The Department is investigating the whole situation with respects to pests in the Province.

AIRLIE NOTES

Crops are looking fine around this part of the district.

We hear some of our neighbours had to pay pound fees last week and damages.

A Montgomery had a narrow escape of being kicked last week. Whilst driving his car along the road a cott crossed in front of him and kicked the windshield off his car. The cott legs went into the car and pulled the door open when getting them out. Mr. Newstead and children were riding in the car.

We regret to hear that Mrs. F. Cargill's mother with whom she was visiting, has died.

Don't forget the ball practise on Wednesday evenings.

Thirty-two dollars buys a new outing Gramophone. Folds up like a suitcase; carries 8 records use ordinary needles and Victors or Columbia records and plays like $100 instrument. Try a record on next time you are in the store and be convinced that this is the best $32 worth you have seen either in the cities or in the catalogues.

Messrs Richard Nyssetvold, Ernest Erickson, Klein Djuff, Tager Djuff and Mrs. and Mrs. K. O. Bratvold journeyed from Chauvin to take part in the Norse-American Centennial celebration now being held at St. Paul Minnesota.

Mr. K. O. Bratvold received a special invitation from the St. Olaf college to take part in the proceedings as a member of the class of fifty years ago, where he will meet a number of his classmates who have survived the lengthy period. Canada's Affairs Discussed at Railway Meeting

President of great National Institution Tells of Country's Business Conditions and Discusses General Railway Situation — Immigration Shows Signs of Coming Improvement.

A glimpse at a corner of the big room in which Canadian Pacific Shareholders gather to hear the annual address of Chairman and President E. W. Beatty on national business conditions and the Company's affairs.

- 12 W. N. Tilly, K.C.

The annual shareholders' meeting of the Canadian Pacific Railway is one of the important financial events of the year as naturally follows from the position held by that company as a great national institution the activities of which touch every branch of Canadian life. On the first Wednesday in every May the shareholders gather to hear the president tell of the company's past year and to elect directors to carry on its great work. At these meetings are always to be found many of the country's leaders in industry, commerce and finance representing all parts of the Dominion, and the president's report is looked upon as an epitome of business conditions throughout the whole of Canada. Of course, all the shareholders cannot attend, they are far too many and they are too widely scattered, particularly in recent years when the holding of Canadian Pacific stock or bonds has greatly grown in popularity among the small investors of the country. If all were present the gathering would be a great mass meeting and the country towns, villages and even the farming districts of Canada would be represented to a surprising extent.

The meeting was this year held on May 6 and the chairman and president, Mr. E. W. Beatty, drew attention to the company's lessened earnings during 1924 which had resulted from a decrease in the movement of manufactured articles and a smaller crop movement for the year. These conditions, he said, had continued during the first three months of the present year, but during the month of April the decrease in gross earnings were appreciably less which gave ground for the belief that conditions were slowly improving. With a good crop, particularly in Western Canada, there was cause for confidence that the results of the year's operations would be reasonably satisfactory. He pointed out, however, that neither rail nor ocean traffic had reached normal proportions and that until they did so the company's expenditures for capital, maintenance and general operation must be curtailed so far as may be without impairing the high standard at which the property has always been maintained. Mr. Beatty referred to the government proposal to subsidize a line of freight steamers on the Atlantic under the proposed Petersen contract and pointed out that particularly during the past 2 years Atlantic shipping operations have been conducted with very unsatisfactory financial returns. He said the companies felt they had been placed on trial and therefore were making the fullest disclosures of the traffic conditions and of the results of the operation of the Canadian Pacific Steamships Ltd.

Attention was drawn to the need of an aggressive immigration policy and the unsatisfactory results so far this year when 10,732 immigrants came to Canada as against 23,380 during the same period of the previous year. Mr. Beatty pointed out there was nothing fundamentally wrong in Canada's immigration laws, but there was an apparent lack of concerted and definite policies in Great Britain and on the continent. There was encouragement in the fact that emigration from the British Isles was becoming more active, inquiries from the United States were becoming more numerous and the continental field showed considerable promise.

In this address Mr. Beatty felt impelled by the prominence which the general railway situation has recently been accorded in parliamentary and through the country generally to make some references thereto. He noticed and welcomed an awakening of public interest quite contrary to the disinterested apathy heretofore displayed by Canadians towards transportation matters. Mr. Beatty drew attention to the statement often heard that the present railway situation in the Dominion was due to the failure in former years of private undertakings, the inference being that defects of private ownership and administration resulted in the establishment of public ownership. Mr. Beatty pointed out that the principal causes of the present unsatisfactory conditions were undoubtedly the formation from time to time of policies of extensive new construction and duplication of existing lines, in most, if not all cases by the government or with government assistance and in participation of a much greater development than the country has enjoyed.

Failure was almost inevitable, Mr. Beatty continued, since the undertakings were so far in advance of the country's existing or immediate future requirements, and it did not to him seem material whether the over-ambitious projects were launched by the government of the day or were conceived by individuals or companies. In each case these undertakings received the financial support of the government and the approval of the people of Canada, without which they could not have been completed, but in neither case could their break-down be attributed to private ownership.

In consequence of the existing conditions, there was, said Mr. Beatty, a general and deep-rooted desire for railway economies, for the elimination where possible of intensive competition and duplicate services and the utilization where feasible of joint facilities. In this connection the president of the Canadian Pacific Railway pointed out that the position of his company was unique. He stated that many of the lines of railway now forming the National System were not constructed as part of one railway conception, but were conceived and designed to compete with each other as separate transportation units, while each of them, in addition, was in competition with the Canadian Pacific system.

The consolidation of the National System had, he said, brought, in consequence under one administration, lines which were originally designed to be competitive and in no sense part of a unified system. On the other hand, the Canadian Pacific Railway had been conceived and constructed as one system, had been extended from time to time always as a single system, each part of which was planned to support the other. There had further been heavy expenditure of public monies with a view to bringing the national system lines to a higher state of efficiency, in particular by the addition of much modern equipment and power. Since little new traffic had been developed in Canada in the last five years and a very moderate amount of new territory opened, the expenditures were aimed to take from the Canadian Pacific Railway as much as improved service and large expenditures could accomplish.

As to the larger question of the future relations which the two systems would bear to one another, Mr. Beatty said: "We propose to work in the greatest possible harmony with the National Railway company with the interests of your property and of its owners. I am convinced that the vast majority of Canadians, especially the business interests of the country, do not desire to see the company either absorbed or merged. . . . I should add, too, that no proposals of any kind from the company to the Government or from the Government to the company have been made save those to do with the question of re-elimination where feasible of joint facilities or the elimination so far as possible of duplicate services."

Probably there are women who can keep a secret, but the what most of them do is to keep it in circulation.

Mother: "Don't you like your dentist?"
Daughter: "No; he gets on my nerves!"

The Maid: "I'm going to sneeze."
The man: "At who?"
"Atchoo!"

Cuthbert (finding a piece of rubber in his hash): "There's no doubt about it, the motor is displacing the horse everywhere."

Sweet Clover

SWEET CLOVER AS A SOIL BUILDER
Fourth Article

By J. G. Haney, Agri. Exten. Dept., International Harvester Co.

SWEET CLOVER ENRICHES THE LAND

Professor Hopkins reported an investigation of the value of sweet clover for green manure in Illinois. The crop was practically mature, having been sown the year previous. The total dry matter in the crop including the roots, to a depth of 20 inches, was 6.4 tons per acre, of which 1.2 tons were roots.

The sweet clover contains practically 40 pounds of nitrogen per ton, or in other words, this crop of 6.4 tons of sweet clover, when plowed under land, would furnish as much nitrogen and humus forming material as 25 tons of average farm manure. There is no other crop that offers such promise for soil building as sweet clover. The crop may be pastured and practically the same results secured.

A German investigation of sweet clover for green manure reports the yield of potatoes on land where sweet clover was plowed under, 241 bushels; when 8 ton of manure were plowed under 204 bushels; and 115 bushels when neither sweet clover nor manure were used.

Why not use sweet clover to build up the land that is to be summerfallowed? There is no weed that can make headway among sweet clover, and it could be plowed under during the summer, before the seed of any weeds were ripe. The sweet clover could be clipped early to destroy wild oats or other weeds that might be starting. It is probable that sweet clover of any other green manure crops should be plowed under before harvest, or not later than the middle of August, so that the growth plowed under would have time to rot before cold weather. If the land is dry at the time of planting a heavy packer should be used, or a roller, and then harrowed. Rods or chains should be used on the plows to insure all the growth being turned under, and the land packed to hasten the rotting.

Our rotation on the I. H. C. Farm is sweet clover land manured and fall plowed for corn—the corn thoroughly cultivated, and cut for silage fodder or hogged off; cultivated or disked for grain in the next spring, and seeded to sweet clover again with the grain. Our yield of wheat for the last seven years in this rotation has averaged 24 bushels per acre. It pays us to rotate and build up the soil. We grew as much small grain on one-third of our land as many strictly grain farmers do on all their land besides we have more than one crop, feed for live stock and are more certain of returns for the year's work.

INCREASES LAND VALUES

H. A. Krueger of Fairmont, Minnesota, owns a lot of land near Billy, N. Dak., and says this land had advanced $25.00 per acre, because so many of his neighbours have had such success with sweet clover. He is now sowing a large acreage on his farm. Sweet clover properly seeded will outgrow and smother most of our worst weeds. It puts the land in shape to that crops grow in spite of weeds, and there is nothing that holds back land values like weeds. Sweet clover will kill them out and furnish good pasture at the same time. Ask O'Connor Brothers at Grand Forks, N. Da., about this.

Mr. H. S. Setze, Davidson, South Dakota, reports a test made with manure and sweet clover. Of 120 acres, eighty had a light covering of manure, and forty acres grew a crop of sweet clover, all was turned under in the spring of 1923, and the land was planted to corn. In 1924 this 120-acre field was seeded to certified National oats: the 80 acres that were manured, yielded 3856 bushels, or 48 1/2 bushels per acre; the 40 acres that had grown a crop of sweet clover yielded 2782 bushels, or 70 bushels per acres, and increase of 21 bushels per acre.

There seems to be no question as to this crop benefitting the land—because the deep roots loosen the soil so that moisture can enter, and add fibre or humus as well as nitrogen. Sweet clover drives the soil full of pikes of manure, two to six feet long. These nitrogen fixings bacteriate on the roots, not only work for nothing and board themselves, but pay for the privilege of doing so.

A BALANCED RATION

By James Red, Courtenay, N. Dakota

I have been growing sweet clover for the past twenty-eight years, I did not know how good it was when I first started in. Now I find it grows such a large amount of rich feed that I have sown it for the last few years, as stock soon take to eating it. I can get a larger amount of feed off one acre of sweet clover than off four of any other pasture I can sow.

It is good for building up alkali or gumbo land, as the roots go down into the hard pan and open it up. It dies out every second year and fills the ground with these decayed roots, so that the land soon gets like an old manure pile.

I have plowed it up along the road when grading, and there was no sod where it grew. It will seed the land every year if it is not eaten down too close, so you will always have a stand, and it will get better every year.

If farmers would sow sweet clover on all their waste land that they get no returns from, they would get a lot of good feed or hay. It makes good hay when it is fairly thick, and is cut before it starts to bloom.

I am thinking of seeding all my land to sweet clover as soon as I get enough seed of my own. I haul out all manure with a spreader on my pasture, putting about a quart of sweet clover seed on each load. In that way I am getting my old pasture to give a much larger amount of feed.

I find sweet clover growing where grass or weeds would not, and it keeps on until late in the fall.

As a hog pasture it is fine. More of it should be grown for that purpose. It is like alfalfa, a balanced ration in itself.

SWEET CLOVER HONEY

Sweet clover is the greatest bee pasture known—colonies kept on sweet clover farms made over four hundred pounds each, when properly handled. There should be two or more stands of bees kept on every farm in the Northwest. Honey is as valuable as sugar—every pound of honey saves a pound of sugar. There are millions of dollars worth of the finest sweet known, allowed to waste, because bees are not kept to collect it.

SILAGE AND MORE PASTURE

Mr. F. R. Hedley, of Crookston, Minnesota, in a letter to R. F. Quintance, states that he filled the silo with sweet clover hay two seasons, and was very much pleased with the results. Last year he states he had No. 1 corn silage that he put on top of his sweet clover silage. In changing from corn silage to sweet clover silage the twenty cows he was milking at that time, gained ten gallons of milk per day with no other change from their former feed and care.

Anthony Stonehouse of Larimore, North Dakota, fed steers half a feed of grain, 10 pounds each, and sweet clover silage. The steers gained four and a half pounds per day for fifty-four days. One steer, put in later, gained eight and a quarter pounds per day for sixteen days. The sweet clover was cut when in full bloom and put

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Most people look at a newspaper as the business of a single individual. If it thrives, that is the owner's or the editor's business. If it fails, that also is the owner's or editor's business.

As a matter of fact THE SUCCESS OR FAILURE OF A PAPER IS A MATTER OF GRAVE CONCERN TO THE ENTIRE TOWN AND DISTRICT.

Newspapers are the best advertisement a town or district has in the outside world. Others judges by the kind of newspaper it has. If it does not thrive, outsiders are inclined to look on the place as undesirable to live in, and so turn their attention to elsewhere.

Thomas Jefferson once said that if he had to have government without newspapers, or newspapers without government, he would take the newspapers, because through them he felt that the state could be run with at least fair success.

If people appreciated more fully the value of their newspapers, they would make great efforts to see that they get the news and advertising. Modern society cannot get along without newspapers any more than it can without schools and churches.

THE HEARTS BOUNTY

BY THE REV. R. J. CAMPBELL, D.D.

The longer one lives the greater appears the mystery of undeserved love. I do not mean merely love bestowed upon the unworthy though that is common enough; I mean the affection we all receive without having to earn. If we had to wait for love until we had kindled it by our merits most of us would be poor indeed. But we don't have to wait. Long before we are conscious of anything in this world we are watched and tended with unremitting care by those who would make any sacrifice for us, even to life itself. So it goes on as the years pass. Is there any one, however vile and degraded, for whom nobody cares? There may be; but if so it is not because of his villainess and degradation. Love does not always consort either with pity or respect; it has its own unpredictable ways, for the human heart has depths unplumbed by reason.

How far too lightly we esteem this precious fact! We take it for granted like the air we breathe, without pausing to think of it as the miracle it is. We do worse; we often sin against it by failing to accord it the reverence which is its due. There are none we can hurt so much as those who love us best. There are cold and selfish hearts that bask in the heat of the devotion they receive and give nothing in return. This is not always obvious to those about them. A pleasing personality may mask a nature that draws love as a bee sucks honey from a flower, but does not respond in kind.

Love is seldom equal on both sides of a fellowship. More commonly one loves more than the other, or perhaps one loves and the other absorbs love. This is not true of sex love only, but of all love, even that of parent and child. Rare and beautiful beyond description is the love in which souls mingle and become one, and it is never evoked without engaging all the powers of heart, mind and will. It enhances the faculties without exhausting them. It is this that Thomas Hardy says "proves itself to be the only love which is strong as death—that love which many waters cannot quench, nor the floods drown, beside which the passion usually called by the name is evanescent as steam."

DR. DOWLING: NOTED GEOLOGIST: IS DEAD

Dr. Donaldson Begart Dowling, 67, explorer and geologist, with an international reputation and responsible for the discovery of many coal and oil fields in western Canada, died suddenly at his Ottawa home, May 26th, from heart trouble.

His death was very sudden as he had attended to his duties at the geological survey department the preceding Saturday. Monday he felt unwell and died suddenly Tuesday night.

Dr. Dowling entered the geological survey of Canada in 1884. He turned his attention to the coal and petroleum deposits of western Canada and was an international authority on this subject. His knowledge and advice was responsible for the discovery of an artesian water supply in southern Alberta, making irrigation possible. As late as 1924 he made an examination of the petroleum discoveries at Fort Norman.

The man was apprehended on the street and the coat he had on was the stolen coat located in a room he had engaged for the night. After the coat had been identified the police left with their prisoner for Wainwright.

SCOTT EXPERIMENTAL FARM NOTES

ROTATION OF CROPS

Seven different rotations of crops are under test at the Scott Experimental Farm. All items of expense such as time and labour expended on each rotation are recorded together with the cost of seed, twine, threshing, rent of land etc. and deducted from the crop returns. This makes it possible to determine the most profitable rotations.

Several rotations were started in 1911, three of which are still in operation. Three new rotations were started in 1920 and one in 1924. In light of the result at Scott to date the most satisfactory and most profitable has been a six year rotation known as Rotation "J" which is made up of six-twenty acre fields cropped as follows: (1) Summerfallow, (2) Wheat, (3) Wheat, (4) Oats seeded to Western Rye grass (5) Hay, (6) Pasture. A strong feature of this rotation is that only one-sixth of the land is summerfallowed each year which reduces to a minimum the expensive labour of summerfallowing. There is hay and pasture provided for a reasonable number of stock and one-half the total area is bearing a grain crop each year. By having the land in grass two fibre and humus are maintained in the soil to insure a permanent system of farming.

When visiting the Scott Experimental Farm ask to see Rotation "J" or if not possible to call in person, any detailed information will be promptly given by mail upon request.

FOURTH ANNUAL TOUR TO THE PACIFIC COAST

Special Train From Winnipeg
via Canadian National Railways Entertainment Provided for at Various Points of Interest En Route

PERSONALLY CONDUCTED

Personally conducted tours offer the best opportunity for familiarizing oneself with the country traversed. This applies to our own country as well as to the older settled countries of Europe. Canadian National Railways has, for many years, commencing immediately after the close of school for the summer holidays, conducted special parties to the Pacific Coast via Prince Rupert. The tour this year which will be the fourth will again commence at Winnipeg from which point a special train of modern sleeping car equipment, dining car and radio observation car will leave July 6th. After stopping at various places of interest, the train will arrive at Prince Rupert on July 11th. At this later point, the party will embark on a palatial steamship for a cruise of 550 miles through the famous "Inside Passage" to Vancouver. While the tour terminates at Vancouver, these who desire to make a trip to Victoria, may have their tickets read "Victoria" as their destination without any additional cost.

This tour is an outing that appeals strongly to teachers as well as to professional men, and business men and women.

The local agent of the Canadian National Railways will be pleased to give you full particulars of this tour, including the cost, choice of routes returning etc.

in a pit silo. The steers were weighed and fed carefully. There was no guessing.

A. V. Eastman and Sons, of Gilby, North Dakota, made affidavit that in July, 3rd 1920, they ut on sweet clover pasture, four thin scrub cows. July 16th, these cows weighed 3470 pounds, and on August 18th, thirty-two days later, they weighed 3990 pounds. A gain of 520 pounds, or 4.2 pounds per day. Further they state that from the butcher's standpoint these cows increased in value $85.12 per head in forty-six days, while on sweet clover.

THE PASTURE SUPREME

As a pasture sweet clover has no equal in the Northwest. One acre will pasture from two to six times as many stock as the common tame or wild grasses. The ordinary gum or ratin-weed wild pasture does not furnish enough feed on six acres to pasture one cow. One acre of good sweet clover will come as near pasturing six cows as six acres of gum-weed will one cow.

There is no pasture that we have ever used that equals the growth after the grain is off for putting bloom on a bunch of cattle. Sheep prefer sweet clover to any other. Stock on green pasture should have access to dry feed such as hay or straw—they will cut up all the straw stacks in the field as the sweet clover is so succulent while very green in the spring.

(The End)

FIGHT THE BARBERRY: THE STRONGEST ALLEY OF WHEAT RUST

(Experimental Farms Note)

The prosperity of the Prairie provinces depends ultimately on the growing of wheat. But farmers of the West have a bad foe to fight in wheat rust, and this rust receives fresh reinforcements from the barberry. So, if you want to stop these reinforcements from coming forward year after year, raid their camping grounds so for the barberries, root them out, and exterminate them root and branch!

It is costing the spring wheat States millions of dollars to get rid of their barberries. Why? Comparatively few years ago, the barberry could be found there only in the few places, where its misguided admirers had introduced it as an ornamental shrub. But the farmers delayed their attack on it too long.

To-day in Western Canada but few barberries have yet been introduced. Farmers! now is the time to get rid of the foe, unless you wish to find yourselves in the same serious situation as your fellows in the spring wheat States. It behooves every resident of Western Canada to make sure he is not harbouring the common foe.

Perhaps you do not know the barberry. If so send to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, for a colored circular (Dominion Department of Agriculture, Division of Botany, Circular No. 12), which shows the barberry and the different stages of wheat rust in natural colours, and will be sent to you free. If, however, you are still doubtful, send a sample for identification of any suspicious intruder to the Division of Botany, Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Then, when you are sure of your foe, root him out and burn him.

FIGHT FOR FREEDOM FROM RUST

A Jew, whose son was very ill, on returning home one evening inquired of his wife: How's poor Moses, Rachel!?"

"Very bad indeed, Isaac. He won't take any interest—"

"What?" broke in he husband, "Won't take any interest? He must be dead."

"How do I open this tin?"
"You will find instructions inside, madam!"

The H. B. Thomas family attended the funeral of the late Mr. George Kessler at Wainwright.

Mr. Gandhi, of India, has the right idea. He says that all leg isolators should perform some useful labor, such as sewing, etc. We don't ask our M.P.s. to do any sewing, but we certainly do wish they would save some wood.

Sergt. Moses of the A.P.P. and Steve Bowerman, of Wainwright were through here recently, en route for Battleford, in connection with the convicts who escaped from a moving train near Prince Albert. These prisoners were arrested last ball by the Wainwright police.

Sorry to learn Mr. Editor has gone for treatment again. We hope it is nothing serious, and that he may long enjoy his work. (Thanks for good wishes. It is a case of cancer in the stomach—Dr. J. S. Smith, late of Edgerton and Dr. Malcolmson at the Royal Alexandria hospital with deep X-ray treatment are accomplishing wonders.—Editor)

The Swindlehurst music club held its regular fortnightly meeting last Saturday night.

DRIVE FOR POOLS UNDER WAY

The province-wide drive for memberships for the dairy, livestock and poultry pools is well under way, and will be in progress until June 28th. In connection with the drive a great campaign of meetings covering every district is being held. There will be more than five hundred of these meetings, with speakers including provincial, legislative members and prominent agriculturists.

Preparations for the reception to Alberta of Walton H. Poteet, the American co-operative expert who is to assist the pools with five meetings in the province, are practically complete. Mr. Poteet, who is secretary of the federation of all U.S. co-operative marketing associations, will arrive in Lethbridge, June 13th, and will be met there by Premier Greenfield, or acting Premier Hoadley, and A. B. Claypool, chairman of the joint pool committee. Mr. Poteet will speak at Lethbridge, Saturday June 13th, and in Calgary June 15th, where a special reception will also be held for him. Mr. Poteet speaks at Red Deer Tuesday June 16th, and in Edmonton June 17th. At Camrose the board of trade has taken entire charge of arrangements for his visit there June 18th.

Mr. Poteet's speech at Calgary will be broadcasted from the Calgary Herald; and in Edmonton from the Edmonton Journal.

During last week the Saskatchewan Livestock investigation committee, headed by Hon. Geo. Langley, paid a visit to the province and held conference with the pool officials, getting information on the organization of the pools in Alberta.

Contracts for all three pools continue to arrive at headquarters and the pools have opened the concentrated drive for memberships with a considerable percentage of their objectives already signed up.

In addition to sending Mr. Poteet, their general secretary, for a week to Alberta, the National Council of the American Co-operative Associations, have offered any other assistance in their power to the organization of the Alberta pools. This federation in the States has a farmer membership of over 62,000, and includes forty of the largest crop pools in the States.

Mr. W. A. Waldron, Co-operation and Markets Commissioner for the Department of Agriculture of the Province of Saskatchewan, held a conference with Mrs. F. E. Wyman, secretary of the Alberta Co-operative Poultry Pool, on Tuesday, June 2nd, in Edmonton, on matters of mutual interest in connection with the organization of the provincial poultry pools now under way in both Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Among other matters discussed was the necessity of an inter-provincial organization for arrangement whereby the provincial pools would centralize their selling agency, as it would prove disastrous to have the pools competing with each other on domestic or foreign markets.
